use
We don't understand how it was erected without prior consent and acknowledgement from the council or residents
We need to know if there is a time constraint on usage as we don't want this going off in the night etc as people have to sleep to get up early for work! We want confirmation that there is a limit on usage after certain hours (as there would be for other situations) so as not to impede on our residents' status
Furthermore, why could it not have been installed on a different wall/different angle, so as not to throw light out all night long - causing light pollution at the very least and is a waste of energy.
The lighting should also go off after a certain time - residents would have to abide by such rules so why not this. Who is 'paying' for this to sit there dormant when not in use?
