COMMENTS:

It looks over specification, for its purpose. Does not blend in with the current building and looks like it belongs on a farm. (out building) Not what you would expect with today's materials ,available. I would not like it to be covered in lights , the same as the house and footpath. They seem obsessed with lighting everything , with no consideration to others. Should this be left as it is, then a screen of bushes or trees would help to cover the horrible sight and the overall aspect from the road side and should be enforced.
