COMMENTS:

The communication kiosk would be inappropriate in this conservation area. It is both unnecessary and totally out of character . Photos of the company's other installations are in busy urban settings. The kiosk would restrict visibility for both pedestrians and drivers, especially those using the car park behind 8 London Road. The advertising board will be a distraction and obstruction to visibility for drivers in an area where many pedestrians cross the road. Only one in five phases of the traffic lights allows pedestrians to cross and the pavement is dangerously narrow by the lights on this side of the road so people frequently cross London Road near the proposed site of the kiosk.
