COMMENTS:

Having had subsidence at my property in 2018, work completed in 2021, is the groundwork going to make grounds unstable? My property is on an incline from the rear of number 5, I want to know whether this is going to affect any part of my property due previously having subsidence.

The lighting is going to have an impact at night through the upstairs bedroom windows, with light beaming through, throughout the evening. Plus the unnecessary Velux windows shooting beams of light into the night sky.

I would like to know if there is a minimum distance between two rear facing properties?
