COMMENTS:

I strongly object to the proposed planning permission for oil and fuel storage next to the river in Twyford. Anyone who lives or works here knows this area is subject to regular flooding, and the environmental consequences of locating hazardous fuel storage on such vulnerable land would be catastrophic. There is already a strong odour of diesel and fuel oils emanating from the site, indicating existing contamination. Furthermore, the site appears insecure: the fence adjacent to the lake has been pulled down, with a well trodden path suggesting unauthorised access and theft of fuels, adding to ongoing spillages. To approve this application would represent a continued dereliction of duty to protect our rivers and local environment, exposing the community to unacceptable risks to public safety, ecology, and water quality. Future generations will judge this era harshly for its failure to safeguard our rivers and environment.

Please be the change we all want to see. There are plenty of other places suitable for oil/fuels not near to major water sources.
