COMMENTS:

I would strongly object this.

As the development is going on for past 6months, life's of the family staying close to the development is under painful stress due to continuous noise from the big digger machines, house vibrations due to drilling/breaking concrete, lots of cracks in houses etc.,

Granting more working hours would make the area unsuitable for residential living. The constant noise from trucks and machinery during loading and unloading disrupts everyone, impacting children's studies and sleep, and significantly lowering the quality of life for nearby residents. Many in the community have existing health issues, and the lack of sleep would further strain the mental health of working adults and young children.

So i strongly urge you to maintain restricted delivery times and provide the residents with quieter, safer, and more liveable environment.
