COMMENTS:

I already have restricted access to the South side of my property due to the previous owners erecting a stockade which is padlocked. If I need access at all I have to ask permission and hope that they are home.

If a brick built extension is allowed how will that affect my future access for any maintenance and repairs that may need to be carried out?

future maintenance and repairs that I might need to have carried out?

I feel there is insufficient space between No 45 and 47 for such an extension and would destroy the detached aspect of the neighbourhood.
