COMMENTS:

This request for a community centre in a small building with limited parking is disgraceful. Whilst I read comments about this being considered in the same light as the new Sikh Centre building built near by, the fact is that new building is bigger than this site and also has dedicated parking for approximately 70+ vehicles. This muslim centre will only have spaces for 12. How many mosques does the muslim community need and if they need them why don't they find a suitable site? They have big centres near the A329 exit round about on London Road where they constantly abuse the parking restrictions during their pray time. I noticed in that application many of the considerations have been false or ignored e.g. there's no car sharing amongst families, they park and prevent access to emergency vehicles. It feels the planning and council community need to be sensible and think about the long term negative impact this will have on local trade in the other offices in that area
