COMMENTS:

We live next door to the left when looking at the properties. We moved into our home only 4 years ago, and an appealing feature to our property is that it is not over looked by neighbouring properties. Our home is narrow but long and all our living and sleeping areas are on the right hand side of our property, which is to the left side of

109. We object to the en-suite windows being put in because one of them will be directly facing one of our bedroom windows which feels incredibly intrusive.

Both of the proposed en-suite windows will gain visibility to our lounge, dining, playroom areas and bathroom and two bedrooms. 109 hasn't had any windows on this side of the property in 70+ years and it feels unfair, intrusive and uncomfortable for us next door.

-suites work perfectly well without windows, so we urge the vendor and the planning office to take this into consideration. Please don't make us feel uncomfortable in our home that we truly love. Other than the en-suite windows, we very much like the plans and wish the new owners all the best with the renovation.
