COMMENTS:

I am writing to formally raise a complaint regarding a serious breach of GDPR data privacy by the council. The publication of all members' names and addresses has exposed sensitive personal information to the general public and, more alarmingly, to two opposing South Asian groups with a history of rivalry.

This disclosure has the potential to significantly damage community relations between these two groups, which are aligned along extreme religious lines, and may escalate existing tensions and hostility.

I strongly urge the council to take immediate action by removing the application and ensuring all personal information is withdrawn from public view, particularly that of individuals affiliated with either group. This situation should not be treated lightly, as it resembles a volatile match, and the consequences could be serious if left unaddressed.
