COMMENTS:

The area is already stretched in terms of facilities such as doctors and schools. This will lead to huge traffic increases and is not well thought out in terms of the impact. Also there is no immediate provision to address the problem of lack of facilities. Can't build thousands of houses and not have doctors and schools already in place. Also no proper public transport provision which surely is a must if trying to move greener and reduce cars on the road. With the continual loss of natural areas and especially flood planes it's a huge risk. The water has to go somewhere and not only that it never ever is affordable housing either. The UK is already losing so much in terms of natural habitat. There must be more suitable locations
