COMMENTS:

The quantity of planned build will have a severe impact on local traffic, increasing pollution, congestion and local services, with implications for health and accessibility. Residents and businesses are already stressed with regular road closures and diversions. I question the need for this much housing.

Once you have built on green and wooded spaces there is no going back. They are gone forever.

We need, if anything to rely less on imported produce and grow our own.

It is good to create beautiful places for people to walk, providing our wild areas are not sacrificed in the process.
