COMMENTS:

This planning application is for a single 6 car Garage. It has a gym and bathroom planned for the first floor (how can this be single story) ?

Plus it is a huge building planned to be about 3 meters from my boundary wall. Longer than the whole length of my house and almost as tall.

I have a lounge window on the side of my house facing what will be a very large brick wall, if he's given permission to build this massive garage. Which will stop any light and sunshine being able to enter my lounge.

If he wants to build such a large structure why doesn't he put it much closer to his home, there is a huge area between his building and mine to be able to build it away from my boundary. He also has a plot of land to the right of the entrance way, which used to be used as an overflow car park when the building was a restaurant. If he built it there it would not be a hindrance to anyone's property. He has blocked this area off with boulders and cones, so it's not being used and looks an eyesore to our properties on Vicarage Court.
