COMMENTS:

I strongly object to this planning application. This picturesque area of countryside is a valuable asset that must be preserved, not subjected to unnecessary development. The proposed access roads are impractical and would create a dangerous junction onto the main road, posing serious safety risks.

The addition of more houses would also place an intolerable strain on the village's already overstretched public resources. This area is home to a variety of wildlife species I regularly observe during my walks, and their habitats would be irreparably damaged if this development proceeds.

There are far more appropriate locations for redevelopment, such as vacant office buildings in urban areas, which are better equipped with infrastructure, resources, and accessibility. This proposal is ill-conceived and would have devastating consequences for the environment, safety, and community.
