COMMENTS:

Looking at the plan the density looks very relaxed compared to many of the other local development I've been looking at. From what I can make out its about a 5-acre site with only 40 houses on. I've seen 60+ on other plans. There also appears to be lots of open space and a wildlife section along the boundary with the nature reserve. Nice touch. I'd be very tempted if the planning goes through. I support this application.
