COMMENTS:

I strongly object to this proposal.

I frequently ride my horse around the bridleways and byways across this site. I see dog walkers, cyclists and hikers all enjoying these access routes. There is an abundance of wildlife which would be destroyed by this development. The proposed country park will not compensate for the decimation of the established ecosystems and will not be easily accessible to many people.

The traffic in the area is already horrendous without the addition of thousands more vehicles. The addition of thousands more houses will result in a suburban sprawl, eradicating the pockets of countryside which help to preserve the identity and character of the smaller towns and villages.
