COMMENTS:

I object to this plan as the scale and size of the new property is completely at odds with the street and not in line with the existing architectural style of properties.

The footprint is enormous in comparison with surrounding properties and will completely unbalance the feel of what is a well scaled private close.

These plans I would argue should be significantly scaled down as at present its sheer volume and immodest design is totally at odds with existing.

My parents live opposite this site at No 52 and whilst the owners of this site should be of course allowed to build a new home it needs to be proportionate so as not to interfere with the architectural and spatial balance of the street. Such a footprint is totally misaligned with surrounding buildings.
