COMMENTS:

I strongly oppose the transformation of Winnersh, Wokingham, and the surrounding areas into a hub for religious centers. The council should focus on developing properties, businesses, and economic opportunities that will benefit future generations. Religious centers often bring increased noise, traffic, and other challenges associated with such establishments (without going into specifics). Similar developments in other parts of England have led to significant issues, placing undue strain on local resources and the community. The priority should be progress and sustainability, not initiatives that may cause division or burden public services.
