COMMENTS:

The proposed Speedy Fuels site on the Old Bath Road is not suitable for the storage and transportation of fuel.

The storage facility would be between Charvil Country Park and Charvil Meadows. Whilst care will be taken to avoid leakage, the risk is too great. The only way to ensure these facilities can continue to be enjoyed is if the storage of fuel is not allowed. The Country Park is a favourite place for dog walkers, other local residents and anglers. The latter group travel a considerable distance to fish these lakes, including Manchester and Kent. In doing so they provide a boost to the local economy which would be lost should pollution occur.

If planning permission be granted, there would be large tankers turning out of the site towards Charvil. Given the site is just round a bend, this would increase the vulnerability of other road users and pedestrians.
