COMMENTS:

Could the panel please inquire how the noise can be managed for a 40-ton diesel engine lorry travelling across the residential streets after midnight? And how many of them will be travelling across our streets? Or, the forklifts beeping all night to unload freights from those lorries? And, how does the operator educate/train all third party drivers to follow noise reduction rules since the drivers and lorries will never be a static group and there will be always third parties delivering freight to the site.

You should have planned earlier if the area would be residential or industrial rather than mixing them together. Such a shame.
