COMMENTS:

As a local resident who regularly passes by the corner in question, I would like to note that the recently installed fence does not appear to present any obstruction to visibility or access. The fence is positioned to the side of the house and does not interfere with sightlines for either pedestrians or drivers at the intersection.

I am aware that there have been some anonymous comments circulating on social media and within the community regarding this matter. However, based on my own observations, these concerns seem to be unfounded. The fence does not impede safety or visibility and appears to comply with standard placement guidelines.

I believe it's important to rely on accurate information and direct observation rather than speculation, and I hope this comment helps to provide a balanced perspective on the issue.
