Biodiversity net gain

Paragraph 13 of Schedule 7A of the Town and Country Planning Act 1990 sets out that every planning permission granted for the development of land in England shall be deemed to have been granted subject to the 'biodiversity gain condition' requiring development to achieve a net gain of 10% of biodiversity value.

This is subject to exemptions, an exemption applies in relation to planning permission for a development which is the subject of a householder application, within the meaning of article 2(1) of the Town and Country Planning (Development Management Procedure) (England) Order (2015)*.

Applicants for planning permission are required to make a statement as to whether they believe the biodiversity gain condition will apply if permission is granted, please confirm:

- ☒ It is my belief that if permission is granted for the development to which this application relates the biodiversity gain condition would not apply

*A 'householder application' means an application for planning permission for development for an existing dwellinghouse, or development within the curtilage of such a dwellinghouse for any purpose incidental to the enjoyment of the dwellinghouse which is not an application for change of use or an application to change the number of dwellings in a building.

Details of the pre-application advice received

Turning to the hardstanding and the proposed shed, it was established whilst on site that the newly laid hardstanding is within your curtilage. In normal circumstances, sheds/outbuildings and hardstandings can fall under permitted development. What this means is that deemed consent is given under The Town and Country Planning (General Permitted Development) (England) Order 2015 (as amended) for this type of development. However, when planning permission was granted for the estate permitted development rights were removed. I attach the decision notice for your information. Condition 11 removes permitted development rights for Class E which relates to outbuildings (sheds) and Class F which relates to hard standings, i.e. its concrete base. In response to your email dated 7 October a householder planning application would suffice for this type of proposal including a letter / supporting information explaining the situation and that it falls within the curtilage. I would expect this to be submitted within the next 28 days given that it is part retrospective. I apologise if you were given the wrong advice about this by someone at the Council, but I can assure you that planning/ technical officers would have followed up any conversation in writing to ensure that this situation does not occur.

Authority Employee/Member

With respect to the Authority, is the applicant and/or agent one of the following:

- (a) a member of staff
- (b) an elected member
- (c) related to a member of staff
- (d) related to an elected member

It is an important principle of decision-making that the process is open and transparent.

For the purposes of this question, "related to" means related, by birth or otherwise, closely enough that a fair-minded and informed observer, having considered the facts, would conclude that there was bias on the part of the decision-maker in the Local Planning Authority.
