A/2001/4145
The Plough Inn, London Road, Wokingham

Appraisal: The Plough Inn is located on a main route through the Identified Settlement of Wokingham. It is identified as a green route and the land on the opposite side of the road is a Green Gap. The following signage and external illumination is proposed:

All of the signs timber and the background of signs A , B & C would be stained in a dark colour with white painted lettering.

Sign A The two advertisement signs on the London Road frontage would replace existing signs, which are externally illuminated. This illumination would remain. A third, non-illuminated, sign is proposed at the Plough Lane entrance. There is no existing sign of this type there but there is a small car park sign on the opposite side of the entrance, which would be removed. The sign is considered acceptable in this location but illumination would not be, as the road is much more residential in character.

Sign B Two small directional signs for the car park on the London Road frontage replacing one existing sign. These are unobtrusive and have a function.

Sign C Two amenity boards, to be used as blackboards or display small adverts, on the front elevation of the building, each with a single spot lamp providing illumination. Details of the proposed lamp have been provided. These would both be replacements for existing similar signs, also illuminated. The one to the right of the elevation would be moved slightly to the left.

Sign D There is an existing lantern over the entrance to the pub but no signage. The proposed sign would comprise of the words "Bar and Dining" in individually applied lettering to match sign E.

Sign E "The Plough" in individually applied black lettering on the front gable would replace existing, similar signage, also illuminated with three spotlights. A single lamp is now proposed.

A total of nine new signs are proposed, plus the existing post at the front of the site would be retained as would be the decorative panel on the front of the building. The majority of the proposed signage would be direct replacements for existing, similar signs – there would be three new additions, sign D, over the entrance, a car park sign on London Road and an advertisement at the Plough Lane entrance. The overall level of signage and illumination would not represent a significantly increase and is considered acceptable.

Recommendation: conditional approval
