COMMENTS:

I do wonder why the council bother to ask residents' opinions. I expressed my dismay at this project via a WBC local plan survey a couple of years ago. I know there has been considerable opposition to this plan from local residents and campaigns against it for numerous reasons, not least of which is that Arborfield has experienced it's fair share of new building work with the rise of Arborfield Green - a sensible project on disused and wasted land that has considerably enhanced the area. Still waiting for a new doctors and dentists though. I don't see the point in saying anything else as it seems that the project is going ahead regardless. What a shame.
