COMMENTS:

I would appreciate some advice on whether the proposed arrangement is appropriate. As shown in the picture, see below, my neighbour has installed a membrane on the wall of his garage and intends to attach it to my garage roof (which has not yet been completed) to close the gap between the two structures.

My concern is that this would result in rainwater being directed solely onto my roof, and I am unsure whether this is a suitable or acceptable solution. It seems that installing a gutter on my neighbour's garage might be a more appropriate option.

I would be grateful if someone could review this situation and advise on the best course of action, or arrange an inspection.

Thank you! Kind regards, Anke Stoll (10 Westview Drive)
