COMMENTS:

I think this is a totally unsuitable site for a fuel depot for very obvious reasons. It is on a flood plain region. It is adjacent to a Nature reserve and rivers which are tributaries of the Thames. Any run off from the site would pollute these waters.

Thousands of litres of fuel are an extreme fire risk and if these caught fire it would be a catastrophe for surrounding residents. The road is highly unsuitable for HGV lorries and is situated on a blind bend. There have already been several near accidents when these lorries have either parked on the road outside or exited the site encroaching on the opposite side of the narrow road. I cannot believe that this has even been submitted as a suitable site for this type of business!
