COMMENTS:

It's a shame I'm having to comment again. Not much has changed since the last comment which I'd like you to consider again in this re-submission please. It's very clear the site is completely unsuitable for this purpose. The amount of traffic and where the site is based makes it very unsafe for Charvil-based residents. The bend in the road where the Lorrie's will be turning into the business is already unsafe with lorries parked consistently blocking traffic. The number of lorries will make it an unpleasant village to live in as there will be constant tankers going past. There will be flooding at this site which means that the fuel will be entering the nature reserve lakes.

I am unsure as to why we are having to comment again as all of the same reasons still stand and nothing has changed since this company withdrew their last request.
