COMMENTS:

Please can you update your images to show a before and after from the view of the residents of Remenham Row.. This monstrosity will blot light, be an eye sore and is very much unwanted by the resident of the retirement community. There is enough retirement housing in and around Henley, the property market is saturated with these.

Thamesfield is a property within substantial grounds, if they insist on needing more accommodation then why aren't they putting it further into their grounds or on the other boundary with the sailing club? Where light and privacy aren't such an issue?

Three storeys of accommodation will invade the privacy of all the residents of Remenham Row, a property my mother bought to provide a quiet and secluded retirement.

I strongly object to this preposterous plan. Build something useful that all the residents of Henley will use.
