COMMENTS:

Could Five Guys not just erect one advertising sign of a reasonable size? Five illuminated signs is not just excessive, it is ridiculous. Winnersh is not Piccadilly Circus. The totem sign they are proposing is 8 meters high for goodness sake. To add insult to injury, the product being promoted - burgers - is a high fat junk food. Just as the government is bringing in restrictions on advertising food like this online and on TV, Five Guys want to shove their brand in our faces, in full, hideous, illuminated glory every time we pass the roundabout. Please do not accept this application.
