By third parties:

- Remenham Parish Council notes that they believe the facility may not be used for private use. However, do not provide any evidence to support this. They consider that WBC should require evidence of no waste contamination to the surrounding parkland. They request that the Officers visit the site before determining the application.

(Officer Note: The main issues raised by the Parish Council are not relevant to the determination of this Certificate application. The LPA can only consider evidence as to whether or not the mounds have been substantially completed for at least 4 years prior to the application. A site visit has been undertaken).

APPRAISAL

Location:

The site is part of the Malmsbury Estate on the South side of the A4130. The site is part of an approved polo complex.

Proposal:

The certificate application is for the installation of a sewage treatment plant and power unit and associated fencing.

It is for a Certificate of Lawful Existing Use to regularise the operational development. In determining a Certificate of Lawful Existing Use a Local Planning Authority needs to consider whether, on the facts of the case and relevant planning law, the specific matter is lawful. Lawful development is development against which no enforcement action may be taken and where no enforcement notice is in force, or, for which planning permission is not required.

In the case of this Certificate, it must be demonstrated that the operational development was substantially completed at least four years prior to the application i.e. 14 October 2020.

Planning merits are not relevant at any stage in the process however evidence from third parties, including neighbours, can be obtained should the Local Planning Authority consider it necessary to do so. The National Planning Policy Guidance (NPPG) sets out that the onus of proof is on the applicant, not the Local Planning Authority in submitting a Certificate of Lawfulness. However, the NPPG also states that “if Local Planning Authorities have no evidence of their own to contradict or undermine the applicant’s version of events, there is no good reason to refuse the application provided that the applicant’s evidence is clear and unambiguous to justify the grant of a certificate”.

Relevant Legislation:

Town and Country Planning Act 1990 (as amended) (TCPA) -

Section 57 requires that planning permission is needed for development of land.

Section 55 provides that development includes any operational development and material change of use of land.

Section 171B sets out the time limits for a breach of planning control.

Section 191 sets out the requirements for a Certificate of lawfulness of existing use or development.

Timescale:

In most cases, development becomes immune from enforcement if no action is taken:

- within 10 years of substantial completion for a breach of planning control consisting of operational development where substantial completion took place on or after 25 April 2024
- within 10 years for an unauthorised change of use to a single dwellinghouse where the change of use took place on or after 25 April 2024
- within 4 years of substantial completion for a breach of planning control consisting of operational development where substantial completion took place before 25 April 2024;
- within 4 years for an unauthorised change of use to a single dwellinghouse where the change of use took place before 25 April 2024

Section 171B(1) states where there has been a breach of planning control consisting in the carrying out without planning permission of building, engineering, mining or other operations in, on, over or under land, no enforcement action may be taken after the end of the period of four years beginning with the date on which the operations were substantially completed. Changed to ten years post 25 April 2025.

Section 171B(2) provides that where there has been a breach of planning control consisting of the change of use of any building to use as a single dwellinghouse, no enforcement action may be taken after the end of the period of four years beginning with the date of the breach. Changed to ten years post 25 April 2025.

Section 171B(3) in the case of any other breach of planning control, no enforcement action may be taken after the end of the period of ten years beginning with the date of that breach.

Section 171B(4)(b) does not prevent the taking of further enforcement action within 4 years if the local planning authority have taken or purported to take enforcement action in respect of that breach.

Section 191 deals with applications for Certificates of Lawfulness of existing development, and the authority's duty to determine them.

Section 191(1)(a) provides that if any person wishes to ascertain whether any existing use of a building or other land is lawful he may make an application for that purpose to the local planning authority specifying the land and describing the use, operations or other matter. As Section 191(1)(a) is written in the present tense, it is plain that the use must exist at the time of the application.

For the purpose of the 1990 Act s.191(2) defines operations as 'lawful' if: (a) no enforcement action may be taken in respect of them (whether because they did not involve development or require planning permission or because the time for enforcement action has expired or for any other reason); and (b) they do not constitute a contravention of any of the requirements of any enforcement notice then in force.

Appraisal:

The legal test of the evidence is 'on the balance of probabilities' that the operational development is lawful.

The evidence submitted in support of the application and the evidence held by the Council is set out below.

Applicant's Evidence:

Application Form:

The application form states the following:

The building works (for instance, building or engineering works) were substantially completed more than four years before the date of this application.

The building works were substantially completed on 30 June 2018.

No change of use of land.

Supporting Statement:

The supporting statement comprises a photograph of the development. It states that the sewage treatment plan has been in situ since at least June 2018 and corroborates this with aerial imagery. It further summarises the additional evidence such as photographs, topographical survey and Appeal Statement.

Site Location Plan & Block Plan

This plan shows the location of the building in the context of the wider area.

Elevations and Floorplans:

These provide detailed plans of the development including dimensions.

The Council's Evidence

Application/Appeal Application/Appeal 182327

Site visit 10.2.2020

Although the photograph is distant the sewage treatment plant can be seen in the Officer's photograph.

Site visit 7.10.2019

The sewage treatment plant and associated fencing/cabinet can be seen in the Officer's photograph

Landscape Officer Statement

The sewage treatment plant is referenced at 4.60 of the Landscape Officer's Statement dated December 2019

Peripheral features

4.60 A series of peripheral features have been developed in the parkland which would normally not be present in a historic parkland or if present not as extensive or in that particular style;

- The car park associated with the Quadrangle Stables;
- The small sewage treatment site adjacent to the Quadrangle Stables – not consented:

LPA Appeal Statement

The sewage treatment plant is referenced in the Officer's appeal statement on page 8.

expiring on 31st March 2019

- Sewage treatment plant partly above ground and fenced in, to the east of the existing American barn stables

Aerial Imagery:

16 July 2021 – Google Earth Pro

15 April 2020 – Google Earth Pro

23 June 2018 – Google Earth Pro

25 March 2017 – Google Earth Pro

Intentionally left blank

The aerial imagery provides a snapshot in time. Given the nature of the works, aerial imagery is relatively conclusive that the sewage treatment plant has been in situ since at least 2018, although it is not clear whether it was substantially completed at this time. From 2019 it appears to be substantially complete and remains in situ to this date.

Officer Site Visit:

An Officer visited the site on 3 July 2023 in relation to enforcement investigation RFS/2019/085351. At the time of the visit, the sewage treatment plant was in situ.

A further site visit on 20 November 2024 confirms that the sewage treatment plant remains unchanged in the same location.

Assessment:

Does the proposal constitute development?

The meaning of development, as set out in Section 55 of the Town and Country Planning Act 1990 (as amended), includes "... the carrying out of building, engineering, mining or other operations in, on, over or under land". "building" is defined at section 336(1) of the 1990 Act and includes "any structure or erection." .

The formation of a non-domestic sewage treatment plant is normally held to be an engineering operation as it requires excavation and underground works as well as the installation of the above ground unit.

The fencing is part and parcel of the development, however it could be argued to fall within Schedule 2, Part 2 (Minor Operations) Class A – gates, fences, walls etc. Town and Country Planning (General Permitted Development) (England) Order 2015. The fencing is less than 2m in height and is not within the curtilage of a listed building. Planning permission is therefore not required for the fencing as it is lawful under the permitted development rights.

Conclusion:

The operational development comprising the sewage treatment plant, power unit and associated fencing is considered to have been in situ for 4 years prior to the date of this application and the fencing benefits from “permitted development rights”.

On this basis, the burden of proof has been discharged by the applicant and the Council is satisfied, on the balance of probabilities, that the operational development is lawful.

The Public Sector Equality Duty (Equality Act 2010):

In determining this application the Council is required to have due regard to its obligations under the Equality Act 2010. The key equalities protected characteristics include age, disability, gender, gender reassignment, marriage and civil partnership, pregnancy and maternity, race, religion or belief. There is no indication or evidence (including from consultation on the application) that persons with protected characteristics as identified by the Act have or will have different needs, experiences, issues and priorities in relation to this particular planning application and there would be no significant adverse impacts as a result of the development.

RECOMMENDATION

The relevant test for Lawful Use is the ‘balance of probability’. Based on the evidence provided and the Local Planning Authority’s own information, it is considered to have been demonstrated that the sewage treatment plant, power unit and fencing comprise operational development and have been substantially completed for at least 4 years. It is therefore considered that the application of a certificate of existing lawful use should be approved.
