I am submitting this comment on behalf of my son, age 12:

"Since moving to Wokingham from London when I was 6, I've really missed being part of a local Muslim community. In London, there were lots of places to go to learn about my faith and meet other kids like me. Here, there's nowhere nearby.

I learn about Islam at home, but it feels lonely sometimes. I don't know many Muslim kids in the area, and there's no space where we can meet, talk, or play together. Travelling far for events or classes is tiring and not always possible with school and homework.

Having a community centre in Wokingham would make a big difference. It would give kids like me a chance to learn, make friends, and feel like we belong. It would be a safe, welcoming place for us to grow and support each other.

I really hope this is approved. We need somewhere to call our own."
