

Dear Ms Owen,

I write on behalf of Dr and Mrs Lade, who are interested parties in the above appeal and have submitted representations via the online appeals portal.

This email is separate from those representations and is intended simply to bring a matter to the Inspector's attention ahead of the site visit.

A number of silage bales have recently been placed along the frontage of the appeal site. Whilst these appear to be located on the highway verge rather than within the appeal site itself, their positioning has the effect of obstructing views of the open rural landscape from Hogmoor Lane.

Dr and Mrs Lade are concerned that this may compromise the Inspector's ability to appreciate the site's relationship with its rural surroundings during the visit. Whilst I appreciate that Inspectors are experienced in assessing sites and their wider context, my clients have asked that this matter be brought to the Inspector's attention.

I would therefore be grateful if you could make the Inspector aware of this in advance of the site visit.

Best regards,
