

One tree on the boundary of No 9 and No 11 Greenside, Edgcumbe Park, Crowthorne.
Scots Pine
Permission to fell

Over the years, we have contacted you several times about how dangerous the tree is. On your advice, an arborist recommended by you, came to lop the tree and make it safe. This was in the summer of 2024.

On the morning of 8 December there was a loud crack and huge amount of noise and yet another large bough fell from the tree on to our patio where we sit. If we had been out there (and I often am [REDACTED]) it would have either killed me or caused very significant injury. We use this patio frequently and have four grandchildren [REDACTED] who are constantly playing there when they visit. There is definitely a risk to life. See photos.

Whilst I understand that the tree is deemed healthy, we cannot continue to be in fear of large branches and boughs falling on to our living area and the risk of injury to us and the family. Your information says that you will consider an application for felling where the tree is 'dead, dying or dangerous'. Ours is most certainly dangerous.

I believe we have done everything we can to try and make the tree safe and have followed your advice to the letter. Despite the work we have had done, with the weather in this country becoming more and more extreme, the likelihood of more boughs falling is therefore increased.

The tree leans quite considerably and if it were to fall, it would land directly on to our bedroom.

Please consider this application with our safety and peace of mind as a priority.
