

To reduce the overall spread and height of the canopy to reduce load on the lateral limbs and major stems