By third parties:

- Remenham Parish Council notes that they believe the polo facility may not be used for private use. However, do not provide any evidence to support this. They advise that they have concerns regarding another structure in the Green Belt. They request that the Officers visit the site before determining the application.

(Officer Note: The main issues raised by the Parish Council are not relevant to the determination of this Certificate application. The LPA can only consider evidence as to whether or not the building and hardstandings have been substantially completed for at least 4 years prior to the application. A site visit has been undertaken).

APPRAISAL

Location:

The site is part of the Malmsbury Estate on the South side of the A4130. The site is part of an approved private polo complex for the residents of the Park Place Estate.

Proposal:

The certificate application is for the erection of a building, concrete base and gravel hardstanding. The building is 5m x 3m with a pitched roof and has the appearance of a domestic shed with dark stained timber walls and a slate roof. It sits on a concrete base and has a small concrete and gravel hardstanding to its frontage.

The application is for a Certificate of Lawful Existing Use to regularise for the operational development. In determining a Certificate of Lawful Existing Use a Local Planning Authority needs to consider whether, on the facts of the case and relevant planning law, the specific matter is lawful. Lawful development is development against which no enforcement action may be taken and where no enforcement notice is in force, or, for which planning permission is not required.

In the case of this Certificate, it must be demonstrated that the development has been substantially completed for at least four years prior to the application i.e. 14 October 2020. The building is a pump house for water on the site.

Planning merits are not relevant at any stage in the process however evidence from third parties, including neighbours, can be obtained should the Local Planning Authority consider it necessary to do so. The National Planning Policy Guidance (NPPG) sets out that the onus of proof is on the applicant, not the Local Planning Authority in submitting a Certificate of Lawfulness. However, the NPPG also states that “if Local Planning Authorities have no evidence of their own to contradict or undermine the applicant’s version of events, there is no good reason to refuse the application provided that the applicant’s evidence is clear and unambiguous to justify the grant of a certificate”.

Relevant Legislation:

Town and Country Planning Act 1990 (as amended) (TCPA) -

Section 57 requires that planning permission is needed for development of land.

Section 55 provides that development includes any operational development and material change of use of land.

Section 171B sets out the time limits for a breach of planning control.

Section 191 sets out the requirements for a Certificate of lawfulness of existing use or development.

Timescale:

In most cases, development becomes immune from enforcement if no action is taken:

- within 10 years of substantial completion for a breach of planning control consisting of operational development where substantial completion took place on or after 25 April 2024
- within 10 years for an unauthorised change of use to a single dwellinghouse where the change of use took place on or after 25 April 2024
- within 4 years of substantial completion for a breach of planning control consisting of operational development where substantial completion took place before 25 April 2024;
- within 4 years for an unauthorised change of use to a single dwellinghouse where the change of use took place before 25 April 2024

Section 171B(1) states where there has been a breach of planning control consisting in the carrying out without planning permission of building, engineering, mining or other operations in, on, over or under land, no enforcement action may be taken after the end of the period of four years beginning with the date on which the operations were substantially completed. Changed to ten years post 25 April 2025.

Section 171B(2) provides that where there has been a breach of planning control consisting of the change of use of any building to use as a single dwellinghouse, no enforcement action may be taken after the end of the period of four years beginning with the date of the breach. Changed to ten years post 25 April 2025

Section 171B(3) in the case of any other breach of planning control, no enforcement action may be taken after the end of the period of ten years beginning with the date of that breach.

Section 171B(4)(b) does not prevent the taking of further enforcement action within 4 years if the local planning authority have taken or purported to take enforcement action in respect of that breach.

Section 191 deals with applications for Certificates of Lawfulness of existing development, and the authority's duty to determine them.

Section 191(1)(a) provides that if any person wishes to ascertain whether any existing use of a building or other land is lawful he may make an application for that purpose to the local planning authority specifying the land and describing the use, operations or other matter. As Section 191(1)(a) is written in the present tense, it is plain that the use must exist at the time of the application.

For the purpose of the 1990 Act s.191(2) defines operations as 'lawful' if:
(a) no enforcement action may be taken in respect of them (whether because they did not involve development or require planning permission or because the time for enforcement action has expired or for any other reason); and
(b) they do not constitute a contravention of any of the requirements of any enforcement notice then in force.

Caselaw:

The Courts have held in Gabbitts v Secretary of State for the Environment and Newham LBC [1985] JPL 630 that the relevant test of the evidence on such matters is "the balance of probability". The Courts have also held that the applicant's own evidence does not need to be corroborated by "independent" evidence in order to be accepted. If the LPA have no evidence of their own, or from others, to contradict or otherwise make the applicant's version of events less probable, there is no good reason to refuse the application, provided the applicant's evidence alone is sufficiently precise and unambiguous to justify the grant of a certificate "on the balance of probability".

Appraisal:

The legal test of the evidence is 'on the balance of probabilities' that the operational development is lawful.

The evidence submitted in support of the application and the evidence held by the Council is set out below.

Applicant's Evidence:

Application Form:

The application form states the following:

The building works (for instance, building or engineering works) were substantially completed more than four years before the date of this application.

The building works were substantially completed on 30 June 2018.

No material change of use of Land.

Supporting Statement:

The supporting statement introduces the application and summarises the evidence.

Site Location Plan:

This plan shows the location of the building in the context of the wider area.

Block Plan:

This shows the location of the building and hardstanding and includes topographical survey information.

Floorplans & Elevations:

This shows the dimensions of the building and the materials.

This photo is dated and shows the building in situ and is dated prior to the relevant 4 year period.

Topographical Survey:

The topographical survey dated December 2019 includes the building on the land.

Site visit 10.2.2020

This photo shows the building and hardstanding substantially completed Site visit 7.10.2019

This photo also shows the building substantially completed Landscape Officer Statement dated 31 Dec 2019 This statement references the shed at 4.37 “ the pump house situated adjacent to the irrigation pond that is unconsented” LPA Appeal Statement dated 30 December 2019 This statement references the shed at page 8 within a list of buildings/structures

15 April 2020 – Google Earth Pro	23 June 2018 – Google Earth Pro

25 March 2017 – Google Earth Pro	Intentionally Left Blank

The aerial imagery provides a snapshot in time. Given the nature of the works, aerial imagery is relatively conclusive that the building has been in situ since at least 2018 and remains there to this date.

Officer Site Visit:

An Officer visited the site on 3 July 2023 in relation to enforcement investigation RFS/2019/085351. At the time of the visit, the building and hardstandings were substantially completed. A further visit was undertaken in relation to this application on 20 November 2024. The development remained on site and substantially complete.

Conclusion:

The building including the concrete base is considered to fall within the definition of development within Section 55 of the Town and Country Planning Act and within the definition at 336(1) of a building and therefore constitutes development.

The laying down of a hardstanding is normally held to be an engineering operation, but in many cases it is permitted development, by reason of Part 1 Class F at dwellinghouses, Part 6 at farms and Part 7 Class E, G and J at shops, offices and industrial/warehouse premises. The hardstanding is associated with the pump house development and does not fall within the Town and Country Planning (General Permitted Development) (England) Order 2015. The proposal constitutes development requiring planning permission.

Having considered the evidence submitted with the application and the contradictory evidence outlined in the assessment, the Local Planning Authority is satisfied on the balance of probabilities that the timber building has been substantially completed for at least four years prior to the date of this application.

The Public Sector Equality Duty (Equality Act 2010):

In determining this application the Council is required to have due regard to its obligations under the Equality Act 2010. The key equalities protected characteristics include age, disability, gender, gender reassignment, marriage and civil partnership, pregnancy and maternity, race, religion or belief. There is no indication or evidence (including from consultation on the application) that persons with protected characteristics as identified by the Act have or will have different needs, experiences, issues and priorities in relation to this particular planning application and there would be no significant adverse impacts as a result of the development.

RECOMMENDATION

Based on the evidence provided and the Local Planning Authority's own information, it is considered to have been demonstrated that, the timber building, concrete base and gravel hardstanding has been substantially completed for at least four years [no use]. It is therefore considered that the application of a certificate of existing lawful use should be approved.
