

PLANNING REF : 250959
PROPERTY ADDRESS : 15 Foxes Walk Charvil
: Reading, Berkshire
: RG10 9TX
SUBMITTED BY : Mrs Anne Farquhar
DATE SUBMITTED : 05/06/2025

COMMENTS:

I object to the application for the following reasons.

The site is next to the nature reserve country park, the River Loddon and Charvil meadows. The risk of ecological damage in the event of a fuel leak is high. There is also a fire risk in view of flammable material being stored. Since the fuel storage has been there (without the correct permissions) we have noticed a distinct smell of petrol whilst walking along the perimeter of the site.

The significant number of fuel tankers using the site is a great cause for concern. Firstly from a road safety point of view. The site is just along from a blind bend in the road; a high number of large trucks and HGVs already use the entrance for an existing business causing traffic to have to cross into the oncoming traffic to overtake. Secondly, the pollution that will be caused by these fuel tankers along the Old Bath Road. and the noise disturbance 7 days per week, starting at 5am on weekdays.

This site and location is completely inappropriate for this business.