COMMENTS:

We would like to express our concerns regarding the further application for additional car barns. If the council had adhered to the original agreed development of 5 houses, which included garages and storage space, this situation would not have arisen. The addition of 3 more houses and the potential for further hardstanding increases the risk of flooding of the land at the end of this development.

It is likely that the car barns will eventually be converted into garages once the initial building restrictions expire.

It's disappointing that the council allowed the developers to increase the number of houses on the site by 60% while ignoring concerns regarding car parking, storage, land use, and drainage issues.
